Calming Toolbox

A How To Guide

1

Find The Right Toolbox

It is important to start with finding the right toolbox for you. If you travel a lot consider using a bag, backpack or purse. If you are at home often you can try a box or container.

2

Decorate Your Toolbox

Time to make your toolbox unique and special to you. Enjoy decorating your toolbox to help you want to use it on those down or stressful days. Have fun!

3

Discover Relaxation Tools

On the next page check out a list of relaxation tools you can either add to your toolbox or create a reminder card to go try these activities.

4

Explore Energizing Tools

On the next page take a look at some energizing tools you can use when you are feeling low or tired. You can either put them in your toolbox or make a card to remind you to do these activities.

5

Share With A Friend Or Family

It is important to share with a friend or family member why you made this toolbox and what would be helpful for you during your time of need. Just know you are not alone!

Find a nice note pad and pen. Express yourself through words.

Do-It-Yourself Body Scrub

Expert Self-Care Advice from KurSpa Manager - Kerry Werner

Ingredients

- ½ cup of finely ground salt
- ¼ cup of oil - We recommend using a light oil such as Grapeseed or Jojoba oil as both are easily washable
- 5-10 drops total of your preferred essential oil(s)
- Glass container with a re-sealable lid - to store any unused scrub for next time

DIRECTIONS

1. Blend the ¼ cup of oil with your essential oils in a small cup to ensure they are mixed well
2. In a larger, separate bowl measure out ½ cup of your finely ground salt
3. Add the blended oil to the salt and stir - aim for a slushy consistency
4. If your scrub seems dry, add more oil; if it seems too wet, add more salt!

Now for the fun part! Let's get that old skin off to reveal the glow underneath! As this is a salt-based scrub, do not use over freshly shaved skin as it will sting and potentially cause irritation.

Dandelion Salve

By: Jenny Cross from Skidegate, Haida Cwail

Dandelion Salve Recipe

By: Jenny Cross from Skidegate, Haida Gwaii

*For use on aches and pains, sore muscles or dry or itchy skin

Harvesting Dandelions (Spring & Summer)

Springtime has better quality dandelions – more potent.

Summertime, in July, the dandelions are smaller.

Find a clean, safe environment that has an abundance of dandelions.

Offer a prayer of thanks to Mother Earth for her abundances and to the plant for its medicinal purposes (can offer tobacco with a prayer).

The Process of Infusing

Before making this dandelion salve, you will first need to make dandelion infused oil. You can either dry the dandelions overnight or place them immediately in a quart jar. Next, fill the mixture with oils of your choice. Place in a dark place for about 5 days.

NOURISHING OILS: Grapeseed Oil, Almond Oil, Extra Virgin Olive Oil

Using Grapeseed and Almond together creates a light and smooth salve.

After infusing for 5 days:

1. Place a cheesecloth in a colander/strainer over a glass bowl
2. Slowly pour infused oil with dandelions into the cheesecloth
3. Gently press dandelions so that it strains well through the cheesecloth
4. Pick up the cheesecloth and gently squeeze all the dandelion goodness out into the strainer, through to the bowl
5. You now have your infused oil ready for the salve-making process!

Ingredients for Salve (using 1 cup of infused oil)

1. 1 cup of the dandelion-infused oil
2. 1 ounce beeswax - grated (1 oz. = 1/8 Cup or 3-4 TBSP) – solidifies the salve
3. 1 ounce refined shea butter or solid coconut oil (1 oz. = 1/8 Cup or 3-4 TBSP)
4. 12-24 drops essential oil of your choice (12 lavender and 12 sweet orange work well)

Instructions

1. Create a makeshift double-boiler by putting a small pot over a bigger pot with about an inch of simmering water.
2. Put the dandelion oil and beeswax into the small pot and heat until the beeswax completely dissolves into the oil, stirring occasionally.
3. Add the shea butter/coconut oil and stir until completely dissolved.
4. Remove from stove and stir in the essential oils.
5. Carefully pour the mixture into small jars/tins and let sit until the salve sets up completely.
